BOTH WERE JEALOUS.

Phases of a Highway Tragedy That Casts Suspicion on the Husband.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Oct. 29.—Coroner Kurtz to-day visited the scene of the Kaiser tragedy, where, early last night, Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Kaiser, Jr., were (according to the husband's story) held up by two highwaymen and Mrs. Kaiser murdered and her husband shot through the left arm.

The coroner found Mrs. Kaiser's gold watch hidden under a stone, and the revolver alongside a near-by fence. Her purse, containing $40, was found by the surface in which the couple were riding when the alleged hold-up occurred. Kaiser is being regarded in his own mind as a victim. There is an insurance policy for $5,000 on Mrs. Kaiser's life. It is known that Mr. and Mrs. Kaiser were jealous of each other, but on the husband's part, it is said, there was absolutely no cause.

INJUNCTION REFUSED.

Chicago Bucket-Shop Keepers Must Obey the Postal Laws.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Judge Grosscup refused to grant an injunction against Postmaster Hering in the Lansing & Co. bucket-shop matter. In refusing the injunction the court said the power lawfully authority is given to reach out after other alleged frauds committed by taking possession of the bucket-shop matter.

The one issue of importance raised by the attorney for the bucket-shop was that the law authorizing the issuance of a franchise contemplated only lottery and similar schemes, and the sentence whereby authority is given to reach out after other alleged frauds committed by taking possession of the bucket-shop matter.

Judge Grosscup said he was of the opinion that the law covers every scheme to defraud.

Suicide of a Student.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 29.—Stephen S. Gregory, a fellow in civil engineering at Cornell University, who returned this fall from the University of Texas, was found dead a little after 6 o'clock to-night. A report was made by the house that Mr. Gregory committed suicide by taking potassium cyanide. His home was in Staegs, Cal., until recently, when he had been in Texas. The dead, it is stated, was due to despondency brought on by worry and overwork. He was about twenty-one years old. He left letters to his mother and M. W. Rice, a fellow student at Cornell, who is believed to have been the one who killed himself because he felt that his services were worthless.

Business and Professional Men, Printers, Miners and Oil Men, All Anxious to Hear the Nominee.

ISSUES OF THE CAMPAIGN

Explained and Made Clear to Voters by Major McKinley.

Sound Money Must Be Maintained, Repudiation Prevented, Law and Order Upheld and Industries Protected.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

CANTON, O., Oct. 29.—Thousands of pilgrims came into Canton to-day and the Republican nominee had little rest, his lawn and the street in front of his residence being thronged from morning until night.

The delegations came so fast that Major McKinley could not find time to lunch till after 3 o'clock. One party was in town before 7 o'clock, but delayed its call till the Major had finished his breakfast.

Others came at short intervals during the day, and the crowd became so large that the speaking had to be transferred from the porch to the reviewing stand. Every caller was intent on shaking hands with the nominee, and so far as possible the opportunity was granted, though it was a Herculean task. At one time the crowd became so large it was impossible to organize a line for a hand-shaking reception.

But hundreds in the party lingered about the house waiting for the speaker to reappear, and towards evening he came out upon the porch to meet them.

Major McKinley made five formal addresses to-day, the last to seven carloads of people coming from Fulton and Williams counties, Ohio, and McKean and northwestern counties of Indiana. These were two introductory addresses. The five audiences addressed were composed of fourteen delegations, in which there were railroad men, business men and manufacturers, farmers, mechanics, miners, glass workers, iron workers, bankers, professional men, printers, men and women office employees, coming from four States, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Indiana and Ohio.

Beside the five speeches Major McKinley received a large number of individual callers from all over the country, shook hands with a large party of women stenographers from Akron, who had a tally-ho parade, and who were afterwards received by Major McKinley's mother; met and spoke informally in his library to the delegations of Ohio and McKean counties, Ohio. The delegation was headed by a band and made a very enthusiastic demonstration on the lawn, when Major McKinley appeared, and they were headed by T. H. Conlica, of Findlay, and W. A. Dickey, of Tiffin.

Residents of Columbus and of Vinton, Huron and Fairfield counties, coming on one long special train, constituted another audience addressed by Major McKinley. They reached the house shortly after 2 o'clock. Addresses were made by Judge Lorenzo D. Hagarty, of Columbus; Dr. C. B. Taylor, of McArthur; T. S. Purcell, of Logan; George Morford, of Walkersburg, and S. W. Winkler, who had been quoted as business men and old soldiers came from Ashland county with greetings and assurances of support. They were received on the lawn and introduced by Thomas Carey, of Ferrysville. The lady employees of White Sulphur Springs, Pa., and other delegations in no formal speech-making. Each was presented to Major McKinley and later to his mother. They brought magnificent flowers for the wife and mother.

A small party of business men and manufacturers of Pittsburgh called at the McKinley home this afternoon. It was directed by S. W. Winkler, of Tiffin, and included W. S. Abbott, James Laughlin, E. M. Perry, W. H. Wood, J. J. McKimley, C. H. Childs, C. F. Formes, W. W. Wilcock, W. W. Lawrence, W. C. Macce, Mr. Schoonmaker and other business men. They were received in the library.

Dr. Chauncey Depew will arrive in Canton to-morrow morning from New York and spend a part of the day with Major McKinley. He is on his way to Cincinnati, where he will address a meeting to-morrow evening.

The callers to-day were Congressman Crapo, of Massachusetts, and R. R. Wright, of Georgia; A. B. Fortune and Representative Harry Smith, of Cleveland, the latter three being prominent Afro-American Republicans.

TQ RAILWAY MEN.

The Republican Nominee Speaks to Sound-Money West Virginians.

In response to the greetings of the Virginia delegation Major McKinley said:

"Mr. Brown and my fellow-citizens—I give to the sound-money cause of the Kanawha & Michigan Railroad Company a hearty and unqualified support. I am glad to receive assurances through your spokesman that, acting as a farmer and independent citizen, you are in favor of the sound money and the interests of your State and country.

"Some people seem to think that the way to get rich in this country is to depreciate the quality of the money we have and some people have gone as far as to say that it does not make any difference about the quality of the money so we only have

Like Archbishop Ireland, the Episcopalian Prelate Sees Only Evil in the Chicago Platform.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

NORFOLK, Va., Oct. 29.—The Hon. W. Bourke Cockran, the New York Democratic orator, who has been stumping the country against Bryan and the Chicago platform, and who had several stormy experiences in the West, was given a hot reception here this afternoon. The silver Democrats and Populists seem to have a "grudge" against the great orator, and they determined he should not speak here, but he did, though his words could not be heard half the time for hisses and interruptions.

The action of the Bryanites is severely condemned by the sound-money Democrats and Republicans, who say a few more such exhibitions of rowdism and intolerance would forever take Virginia out of the solid South county.

Great preparations were made for Mr. Cockran's speech. Army Bay had put on the hall, probably numbering 500, and on the west side of the hall draped with American flags, also the western gallery front, the flags being borrowed from the navy yard for this and other like occasions of the campaign. By 2 o'clock, the time set for the speaking, a large number of people had gathered in the hall, many being drawn by curiosity, and of these a great number were silverites, proclaimed so by the wearing of buttons and badges.

At 2 p. m. to the strains of "Hail to the Chief" from the naval post band, stationed in the north gallery, Mr. Cockran entered the hall, escorted by the gold standard bearers in this city. He was greeted with cheers, followed by cheers for Bryan and Sewall, and for Young and McKinley. As Mr. Cockran moved to the front, the stage he was greeted with mingled cheers and hisses. The latter demonstration Mr. Cockran made use of, and he remarked: "I never object to Populist arguments, and these shouts are among the best of them. I have heard Populists can't wait for success, before they begin their onslaught of disorder. I stand here to oppose the wrong done our party by those men."

Here he was again interrupted by cheers for Bryan, and some one cried "Put him away!"

"No," said Mr. Cockran, "leave him here as an object lesson."

Later, asking "what do the Populists propose to do?" he waved his hand towards the door, where the crowd that now filled the hall, probably numbering 500, was now receding, and remarked: "The disorderly attempts to suppress free speech in this campaign as shown by these ruffians is destructive to the progress of the nation."

Hisses, groans and cheers greeted this sentiment. The hostile demonstration had become so strong that he could not go on further. Mr. Cockran added fuel to the fire by interspersing the statements he made, which many of the silverites, who were cheering like these: "Every laborer will understand me; no Populist can."

"Let them alone, they are simply illustrating their platform, which stands for liberty and justice for all."

Here the uproar became deafening, and Mr. Cockran moved to the rear of the stage, and said: "What of slavery?"

"How about that Madison Square speech?"

Mr. Cockran said that he had been misrepresented by the press as his Madison Square speech, and that only a few lines of what he had said had been quoted in the papers. The speaker said he had voted for McKinley in the last election, and was continuing, he said: "During a few years past the South has been disgraced by a number of wretches who have pretended to represent her, but I'll make no more pretense of the South than do the ruffians out here in this audience who have disgraced me."

Again the uproar stopped him and the voice of Hon. W. R. Mayo, Mayor of the city, was heard commanding order. While the silverites were cheering and hissing, Mayor Mayo was cheered to the echo for his defense of good order and his appeal to the platform where Mr. Cockran accepted his apology, but stated that there was no need for his action as the people recognized the source from which the disturbance came.

Mr. Mayo went on smoothly, and with a grand oratorical finish Mr. Cockran ended his speech. Mr. Cockran left the hall by the rear exit, and was escorted by a New York via the Cape Charles route to-night.

PALMER AND BUCKNER.

Enthusiastic Receptions at Burlington and Fairfield, Ia.

BURLINGTON, Ia., Oct. 29.—To-night the joint speaking tour of Generals Palmer and Buckner closed with a rally at the Grand Opera House, Burlington. A heavy rain storm prevailed during the evening, but did not prevent a great crowd assembling at the opera house, which seats three thousand people. General Trimble presided, and a large number of good Democrats acted as vice presidents. When General Palmer arose to speak he was greeted with great enthusiasm. He said he was delighted to have such kind words spoken about him as the chairman had just uttered. He had been pleased to be chosen an Indianapolis delegate for the true Democracy, and to have such a noble comrade as the fearless warrior Buckner. "A number of years ago," he said, "we faced each other in one of the gravest struggles in the history of our country, and the Indianapolis convention has chosen to show the world that the blue and gray no longer exist as contending factions in the United States. I did not seek my own nomination, but worked for that of General Erge. By the Indianapolis convention chose me to bear this burden, and I am pleased to do so. In no campaign have there been such interests at stake."

At this point some one shouted the name of Bryan. There was a chorus, "Put him out!"

"No," interposed Palmer. "I don't want

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Mr. Bryan's visit to Chicago is proving a great disappointment to his managers. While his frantic efforts and many rallies have placed in the city have attracted many people, a large proportion of them not only wear yellow badges, but show their loyalty to McKinley by cheers for him at the conclusion of Bryan's remarks. Wherever Bryan speaks McKinley speakers soon put in their appearance, and if it were possible for Bryan's speeches here to have any influence on voters it would be more than offset by the work of McKinley speakers throughout the city.

Senator Tillman's appearance in the public squares of Chicago at this time is likened unto the notorious "sand lot" appeals of Dennis Kearney in San Francisco, and his work is doing good service for the sound-money cause.

After some of the tenants of Temple-court Building, No. 255 Dearborn street, had listened to Bryan's speech to-day they tore down the American flag and trampled it under foot. This created intense indignation among other occupants of the building, and a riotous scene followed, though serious trouble would result. It was reported that the offense was committed by directors of the American Railway Union, but E. M. Goodwin said: "For the past two or three weeks campaign dodgers of all kinds have been in the office. They have usually lain where they were thrown, and this was the case to-day, when about fifteen or twenty flags with McKinley and Hobart pictures printed on them were thrown in the door. No attempt was made to remove them, and the report that Mr. Debs or Mr. Burns was present is sheer nonsense. Neither gentleman was here, there was no meeting of directors nor was the American flag insulted in any way."

After Chairman Hanna had this evening carefully examined revised polls from several States, including those recently regarded as doubtful, he declared he was now absolutely certain that McKinley and Hobart would be elected by a much larger majority than he had heretofore anticipated. He said there was no longer the least doubt that all the Pacific-slope States, Kansas, Nebraska, the Dakotas, Minnesota, Michigan, and Delaware would choose McKinley and Hobart electors on next Tuesday.

C. C. Vail & Co., brokers of this city, have posted $100,000 to bet on McKinley's election at 3 to 1.

FROM REPUBLICAN CHAIRMAN.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Reports from Republican committee chairmen in twelve States were received at national headquarters to-day. The reports from Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Ohio, South Dakota and West Virginia give electoral vote of each as certain for McKinley and Hobart. The latter part of last week Mr. Hanna called upon the chairman of every State central committee to furnish him a fair and reliable forecast of the situation. The first replies came yesterday. In addition to the States named above, reports were received from New York and Texas. Summarized they make this showing:

Iowa—This State is absolutely sure for McKinley by not less than 40,000. It may go 50,000. We have had lights on Congressmen in the Second, Sixth, Eighth, Ninth and Eleventh districts. McKinley has a majority of 10,000 in each of these districts.

Kansas—This State will give not less than 3,000 plurality for McKinley. This estimate is based on reliable information from every precinct. I believe all the eight Congressmen will be elected.

Indiana—I am confident McKinley's plurality will not be less than 25,000. It may reach 30,000. We have had lights on Congressmen in the Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth, Ninth and Tenth districts. McKinley will elect a solid delegation.

Michigan—We have had lights out of six members to Congress and give the State to McKinley by 25,000 majority.

Minnesota—Our first poll just completed shows McKinley will carry the State safely by 15,000 plurality.

New York—McKinley's majority in the State will be 60,000 majority. In the congressional majority will run from 1,500 in New York to 14,000 or 15,000 in the Twenty-second and Thirty-fourth districts. All the Republican candidates for Congress will be elected. The Republicans will elect 120 of the 126 members of the General Assembly, and the Democratic candidates are 60.

Ohio—McKinley's majority in the State will be 100,000.

South Dakota—State gives McKinley 8,000. In this estimate every doubtful vote is given to McKinley. The Republican candidates will elect ninety out of 125 members of the Legislature. The Democrats will elect the electoral ticket, but are putting every effort into the fight for the Legislature.

West Virginia—The State will give McKinley a plurality of not less than 11,000. We have had lights on Congressmen in the First, Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth, Ninth and Tenth districts. McKinley will elect a solid delegation.

Texas—Reports justify the belief that McKinley will carry 7,000.

Nebraska—The State will be for McKinley by 18,000.

CHAPLAIN MCCABE SING.

He Assisted in the Big Meeting Held by the Union Generals.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 29.—The Union generals arrived here about noon to-day and were met at the station by a committee of veterans, who escorted them to the Hotel Duquesne. This afternoon a public reception was held, and this evening the generals attended a camp fire at Exposition Hall.

LEPERS AT LARGE.

Escape of Two Chinese from the North Brothers' Island Colony.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—The World to-morrow will publish the following: "There were on the island of North Brothers' Island, Long Dong and Sam Loo, two Chinese who escaped Wednesday night. They were the worst two cases on the island, but they were given medical treatment. When they were taken to the hospital they were put in a room with the other lepers. Long Dong arranged the job and had perfected his plans to get him and Sam Loo back to China. They waited for a favorable opportunity to escape. Long Dong had money to bring him back."

FRENCHER ONCE OBTAINED.

HAMILTON, Ont., Oct. 29.—Rev. C. E. Whitehead, pastor of St. Matthew's Church and Commodore of the Victoria Yacht Club, was seriously injured to-night while riding his bike near Windsor. He collided with a farmer's rig. He was brought to the city hospital, where he was treated, and it feared he has suffered internal injuries.
